Report: Preparing & Developing E-content: An Aid to Teaching and Learning

A faculty training program titled, 'Preparing & Developing E-content: An Aid to Teaching and Learning' was organized on 30/06/2022, 2 pm onwards in the Lecture Hall 1 of Index Medical College, Hospital & Research Centre, Indore.

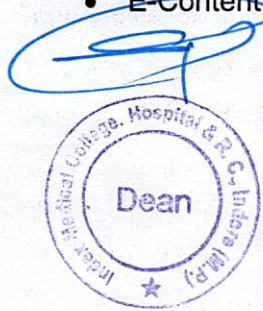

It was organized by the IT department of Index Medical College, Indore keeping in mind that the medical educational system is undergoing change where the use of new information and communication technology has become a must. It helps students get acquainted with the knowledge and information, they require in this techno savvy Era.

This program was done in continuation with another program titled 'Inclusive Cyber Security Awareness Program' where the speakers had discussed the aspects of cyber security. However, it was explained during this talk that to help us to develop knowledgeable and tech savvy doctors, it is of uttermost importance to integrate ICT with the medical education system.

It was further explained that E-content is a very powerful tool of education. It is the latest method of instruction that has attracted attention of learners and teachers of all instruction. Moreover, the advancements in technology and the plethora of powerful and innovative digital devices and tools have a great potential to improve educational outcomes. The speaker pointed out that educators must understand that the use of digital content and devices will help to improve teaching and learning and thus enhance educational opportunities and benefit the Millennial.

After the introduction to the importance of teaching with the help of E content was explained, and then the basics of preparing E content were brought forth. The speaker discussed the following modules:

- E-Content Design

Registrar
Malwanchal University
Indore (M.P.)

- Documentation & Presentation Tools
- Graphics & Animation
- Audio and Podcasting
- Online Video Creation
- Setting up Surveys/Polling/Quizzes

Each aspect of the module was discussed where matters like visually appealing; animations etc. were explained but at the same time over indulgence of graphics and fonts were also mentioned. All in all, it was explained how to maintain the balance between them. The speakers also explained the easy methods to set up quizzes and questionnaires for the same. The various commonly occurring mistakes were also discussed where it was explained that because it a methodology of teaching that it relatively different from the older teaching methods and lots of teachers have not undergone professional learning for the same, it is quite a possibility that some simple mistakes can occur and how to avoid them.

The faculty and post graduate students attending the program not only understood the basic methodology of developing e content but also got an overall idea of the mistakes and pitfalls that could occur.

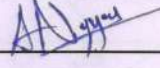

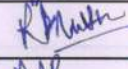

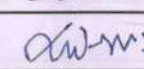

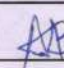

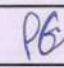

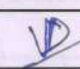

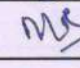

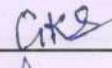

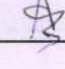

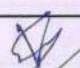

The program ended with a vote of thanks for the It department for their valuable contribution in helping the faculty understand how to prepare and develop e content and how to improve their presentation skills for the same.

Report

Inclusive Cyber Security Awareness Program

A faculty training program titled 'INCLUSIVE CYBER SECURITY AWARENESS PROGRAM' was conducted on 30/06/2022, in Lecture Hall 1 at Index Medical College, Hospital & Research Centre, Indore.

A total of 80 faculties from various departments attended the program where Mr. Lakhan, IT Incharge at IMCHRC, Indore was the resource person. Dr.G.S. Patel, Dean, IMCHRC, Indore chaired the session.

He discussed the topics under the following headings:

- Removable media.
- Passwords and Authentication.
- Physical security.
- Mobile Device Security.
- Working Remotely.
- Public Wi-Fi.
- Cloud Security.

Mr. Lakhan started the session discussing the importance of being aware about cyber security and why it is important for every individual working even in a field like medicine needs to know about this. With growing dependency on digital media, cyber security which was a previously ignored domain has now become of prime importance. He mentioned that most of time it is not a virus that is to be blamed but also at times it individuals with poor cyber habits that create doorways for cyber attacks, often inviting troubles themselves.

While educating the faculty regarding cyber security, Mr. Lakhan also pointed out that in the long run, non teaching staff, students, specifically post graduate students also need to be oriented to this. In certain departments like Radiodiagnosis which has its dependency on a proper working, fast usage internet and where dealing with the cyber world is a day to day requirement, it is of uttermost importance that frequent training sessions are the need of the hour. Also, as we are heading towards an era where telemedicine is becoming the new normal, protecting ourselves from cyber crime is a must. For this, he gave the participants a number of tips like never presume you are not a target to hackers, Keeping your software up-to-date is a must, to be careful with suspicious mails and never to download anything from unknown sources or click on unknown sites. It is also important that a secure and uncommon password is set for important accounts. A very practical advice was also shared by Mr. Lakhan to never leave devices unattended.

At the end of the talk, the participants brought out a number of queries which were duly answered by Mr. Lakhan. To end the session, the entire team of IT Department of Index Medical College, Hospital & Research Centre were thanked for their input in making this session possible and also for the knowledge that was shared by them.

Cyber Security

A virtual security gate

OBJECTIVE

The objectives are to understand :

- Basics of cyber security.
- Types of cyberspace security.
- Cyber security application in dentistry.
- Cyber wars.

ABOUT

Very recently Denial-of-service malware had attacked the bank services of Estonia; the entire country's economy had come to a standstill. India was not far behind as main power grid of Mumbai was placed under attack by an unidentified source which led to a complete blackout in the city for nearly an hour and stagnancy of the so called "lifeline of Mumbai", the local train. With such attacks, now common, the space of cyber security is reviving itself to bring back the force required to tackle such menace.

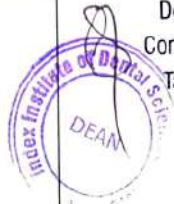

In dentistry, as we come across many patients whose sensitive information are fed into our systems on a daily basis, things like cybersecurity definitely then comes to picture as it can be learnt and the benefits utilized to protect ourselves from losing not just our professional but personal data as well.

This course is going to be intensive session to understand the basic nuances of cybersecurity and the ways of its application in the field of dentistry.

REGISTRATION DETAILS

Speaker: Mr. Lakhon Panwar
 Contact Person: Dr Rolly S. Aggarwal, Vice Dean, Prof & Head, Department of Conservative Dentistry & Endodontics
 Target Group: Teaching Staff, IIDS
 Date: 20th June 2022
 Schedule: 09:30 am-2:00 pm
 Venue: LH 3, IIDS, First Floor

COURSE OUTCOMES:

The course will help the participants to:

1. Understand the various softwares that are available to tackle cyber-attacks.
2. Learn about dental specific software.
3. Change the way they are practicing so far.
4. Understand the vast cyberspace and various government policies regarding cybersecurity.

Report on Training Program for Teaching Faculties

Very recently Denial-of-service malware had attacked the bank services of Estonia, the entire country's economy had come to a standstill. India was not far behind as main power grid of Mumbai was placed under attack by an unidentified source which led to a complete blackout in the city for nearly an hour and stagnancy of "lifeline of Mumbai", the local train. With such attacks, now common, the space of cybersecurity is reviving itself to bring back the force required to tackle such menace.

Cybersecurity is the practice of deploying people, policies, processes and technologies to protect organizations, their critical systems and sensitive information from digital attacks. A strong cybersecurity strategy can provide a good security posture against malicious attacks designed to access, alter, delete, destroy or extort an organization's or user's systems and sensitive data.

Whenever the thought of cybersecurity comes up, one must first try to understand its basic nuances as this field is still new to dentistry. In dentistry, as we come across many patients whose sensitive information are fed into our systems on a daily basis, things like cybersecurity definitely then comes to picture as it can be learnt and the benefits utilized to protect ourselves from losing not just our professional but personal data as well.

Keeping the above scenario in mind, Index Institute of Dental Sciences, Malwanchal University conducted a value-added course, for its faculty members, on the topic "Cybersecurity- A virtual security gate" by Mr Lakhan Panwar, IT Head, Malwanchal University, Indore on 20th June 2022 at Lecture Hall 1 (Ground floor).

The objectives of the programme were:

- 1 Basics of cybersecurity
- 2 Types of cyberspace security
- 3 Cybersecurity applications in dentistry
- 4 Cyber-wars

The session was inaugurated with a welcome speech delivered by Prof. Dr Satish Karandikar, Dean, IIDS, Indore and lamp lighting by the speaker and faculty members, followed later by saraswati Vandana recited by the extremely talented choir group of IIDS.

During these 5 hours of extensive session on cybersecurity, Mr Lakhan explained that to keep up with changing security risks, a more proactive and adaptive approach is necessary. He also said that several key cybersecurity advisory organizations offer such guidance. For example, as he quoted, the National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST) recommends adopting continuous monitoring and real-time assessments as part of a risk assessment framework to defend against known and unknown threats.

While explaining the benefits of cybersecurity in dentistry, he gave a detailed benefit list in general that included; Prevention of unauthorized user access, Protection for end-users and end point devices, Business protection against cyber-attacks and data breaches etc.

The speaker, Mr. Lakhan Panwar also highlighted top cybersecurity softwares that can be downloaded such as Mimecast, LifeLock, Bitdefender total security, Malwarebytes etc. He also stressed that as part of the HIPAA Security Rule, covered entities (i.e., your practice) are required to undergo cybersecurity awareness training to help mitigate the risk of human mistakes and minimize the chances of being exposed to an attack. Recent data points to a 50% to 75% reduction in cyber-attacks against healthcare entities that properly train their staff.

While answering some questions, he explained the role of various government schemes such as digital India initiative and NCIIPC's role in protecting critical information infrastructure from cyber-attacks.

He also presented the various government data on cyber-attacks and showcased the awe-struck audience the current weaponry of war that the developed countries might use against developing economies in the future

Post lunch break, a demonstration session was organized to acquaint the faculties with the softwares for cyberspace protection.

After the Q/A session, the conclusion speech reminding faculty members on the importance of keeping themselves updated with the new softwares and vote of thanks was delivered by Dr Rolly S. Aggarwal, Vice Dean, IIDS followed later by a photograph session.

REPORT ON

REMOTE EDUCATION

E-content Training were organized in Index Nursing College on 15/12/2021 With the advent of technology, e-learning has become an intrinsic part of the teaching and learning process. Further the recent UGC Draft proposal on Blended learning has made it both urgent and necessary for educational institutions to work towards developing strategies for online education. Several initiatives have been undertaken in the direction of constructing an effective teaching learning environment using the fruits of technology. These include development of e-content, massive open online courses, virtual labs and knowledge repositories.

This e-content training for faculties aims to develop the required skills to effectively utilize ICT tools and make them an essential component of the teaching-learning framework. The participants will be trained in developing e-content in the form of presentations, videos, info graphics which are engaging and interactive and would better cater to the needs of students with different learning styles. The training also outlines creation and conduct of online assessments and quizzes that could support seamless and hassle-free grading and evaluation of students which would not only be simple for the teachers but also interesting for the students.

Objectives

The objectives of the training were to :

1. Basics of online learning and e-content development
2. Applications for creating interactive learning content

Methodology

Model of Training The workshop covered the following:

1. Lecture-cum-discussion method
2. Activity based/ Hands on training

Participants

Teaching Faculty participated in the training programme.

Resource Person

Mr. Lakhan Panwar , IT Head , Malwanchal University

After inaugural session, the technical sessions started with discussion on designing online courses; overview of Learning Management System. Learners can study using asynchronously or synchronously technologies. The courses are based on existing Open Educational Resources, and are built around a learning management system with content stored on online repositories. Digital media integration would facilitate effectiveness of curriculum. Synchronous and asynchronous technologies would facilitate interaction - with peers, with teachers, and with content.

In next session, Resource person Dr. Anu V Kumar Professor highlighted how to get benefited by remote education and how to give access to students. How to add activity/resource was also discussed in the session. Uploading courses, organizing courses and controlling course appearances to participants were also discussed in the session. The participants had hands on practices according to the instruction of the resource persons.

At the end, Dr. Reena Thakur Professor proposed vote of thanks.
